Final season approaches for Addison’s Family Aquatic Center

The Addison Park District Board of Commissioners have come to a consensus, through more than a decade of discussions and years of analysis that the 2017 season will be the final year of operation for the Family Aquatic Center. Due to the age of the 40-year-old facility and daily operational costs, it has become cost-prohibitive to keep the outdoor pool in Community Park open after the 2017 summer season. The Park District understands it would not be the most prudent use of taxpayer dollars.

The Family Aquatic Center, located in Community Park, opened to the public in 1976 and celebrated its 40th anniversary in 2016. The Park District plans to celebrate the final season much like the anniversary. Community members, along with former staff members, are invited to share their memories of the Family Aquatic Center and enjoy the final season. Please look for information on the Park District website, social media sites and Summer FUN Guide for details about final season special events. Park District staff looks forward to making the final season extra special for all pool patrons.

Addison Park District is committed to providing the highest quality recreational opportunities and open space for everyone. The 2017 Winter Fun Guide is available in print and online with a full curriculum of leisure activities for all ages and lifestyles at www.addisonparks.org.
